Foreword

The Annual Staff in these few pages tried to capture some parts of the work, the play, the seriousness and the gaiety which have made our high school days a magic time. We hope that as you turn through the pages of the "Voice of Logan" in years to come, it will bring joy of reminiscence to all who remember the class of 1955.

To our beloved teachers we say, "Thanks," for your patience with the staff and for your gracious attitude toward making our "Voice of Logan" a success.

Dedicated
To Our Parents-
Our Guiding Light

It is to you that we instinctively turn for sympathy in joy or sorrow for assistance in difficulties and for comforts when needed. We are sure that existence without you would be unendurable. It is your presence and love that fills the world with pleasure and make a joyous experience. . . . your understanding and devotion are precious . . . and it is our desire to always retain your confidence; so to you, we the Senior Class of 1955, affectionately dedicate, this, the seventh annual, "Voice of Logan".

In Sept

Class History

In September of 1951 there arrived on the Campus of Logan High School 121 students who have proved to be one of the most energetic, versatile and industrious classes in the history of Logan. This Class was under the direction of Mrs. E. S. Anderson, Mr. T. E. Galloway, Mr. H. L. Watkins, and Mr. F. Stewart. "Green Days" were hard days and a few dropped by the way side, but those left were drawn closer together.

Why, we conducted ourselves like upper classmen already; on the athletic Field and hard wood Floor, in the classroom and in every phase of campus life, the freshmen were outstanding. During our sophomore year, Miss K. E. Jones and Mr. J. G. Polk were advisors. Wilma Faggart, one of our classmates, won the title of Miss Tigerette and reigned as our Queen in the Christmas Parade. In September when we came back for our Junior year, we were fortunate in having Miss K. E. Jones and Mr. J. G. Polk for our advisors again. There wasn't a single organization or activity, that did not feel the influence directly or indirectly of the class of '55. Under the guidance of Miss Jones and Mr. Polk, our advisors, and Harry McDaniel, our class president, we started collecting funds for the Junior-Senior Prom. We thought our class gave the grandest Junior-Senior Prom in the History of Logan. So beautifully and effectively decorated was our Gym., that we really felt we were in Mexico.

During this year we looked forward to the Junior Speaking Contest as other Juniors looked forward to it. The winner of the Gold Medal was James Stewart. Runners-up were Lorene Bruner and Wilma Faggart. During our Junior Year, we were fortunate to have the "Local Follies Revue" brought to us under the direction of Mr. Mel Rennick and Mr. Roy Carpenter, Theatrical Producers. We had participants from both the community and the school. Again our class excelled, for reigning as "Queen of the Follies" was Wilma Faggart. Troy Sherfield won first prize on a talent program, sponsored by the local chapter of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. He went to Salisbury to attend the Finals and won second place there. Robert Wagoner won first place in the District N. F. A. talent hunt, which was held at Dunbar High School in East Spencer, North Carolina, and won second place in the state Talent Hunt held at A & T College in Greensboro.

Margaret Louise Bell and Emma Cook were chief Marshalls during commencement. Other Marshals were Marva Robinson, Emma Hicklen, Doris Horne, Patricia Marsh, Harry McDaniel, and Robert Wagoner. The Juniors presented a class play, which was entitled "Bound to Marry." The characters were Emma Hicklen, Daisy Robinson, Marva Robinson, Helen Caldwell, Willie McDaniel, Paul Brown, and Margaret Miller.

Now, to settle down to hard study and enjoyment of our last year as students at dear old Logan High. We started off with a new principal, Mr. C. C. Griffin as Mr. E. L. James, our former principal, who served us faithfully for twenty-five years resigned. Mr. Polk was our advisor and Robert Wagoner, our senior class president. Once again one of our classmates, Margaret Louise Bell, won the title of Miss Tigerette and reigned as our homecoming Queen; and also reigned as our queen for the Christmas Parade. One of the memories that will linger with us is that of the trip to A & T College, which was enjoyed by all.

During our senior year, we were fortunate to have a Student Council, of which Robert Wagoner, one of our classmates, was president and Daisy Robinson, secretary.

Now it is graduation time and it seems like yesterday that we came wide-eyed and green. We are leaving the Old Alma Mater for college, jobs, military posts, and the like. No matter how far we may roam, memories will always take us back to places and faces so dear. This class is rich with memories and so as a group we are wealthy. Farewell, for a while, Logan High School, but the class of '55 will live on united forever whether we are together, physically, or not.

Class Prophecy

As my first year of teaching the summer students at the New York Hillsdale High School ended, I immediately made up my mind to visit my old classmates during the fall.

While sitting in Grand Central Station awaiting the arrival of my train, three men came toward me. I recognized them as Joe L. Pharr, James Davis and Paul Stafford, Pro-baseball players in New York. Charles Smith, pro-basketball player in New York, came by in his white convertible cadillac and stopped to converse a moment with me.

We were told by the private detective, Elizabeth Stafford, that the train would be delayed, because of a mishap in upper Manhattan; so we decided to go to the Blue Moon Hotel where we found Paul Brown as the entertainer for a two weeks' engagement.

When passing the Presbyterian Hospital, we saw four attractive nurses, Elaine Johnson, Betty Saunders, Georgia Forrest and Myrtle Forney.

Returning to Grand Central Station, I fell asleep and had a strange dream. It seemed that I saw Ida Walker, Mattie Smith, Dorothy Miller, Emma Russel and Annie Alexander on the nursing staff at a local hospital.

Leaving New York I went to Washington, where the annual doctors' convention was being held. There we saw Franklin Miller, Robert Foard and William Cook. On Treiner Road I passed the radio station WHIP and decided to stop. We heard a very familiar voice which I soon recognized as Ruben Parler, the favorite disc jockey of the teen-agers on the avenue.

After such a dream I was awakened suddenly by the touch of Josephus Springs. I boarded my train to Virginia and arrived early. I went down to Virginia State College where I saw William Foard, assistant to Josephus Springs in the physical education department, also saw some stenographers on a state-wide tour. They were Nazaree Jackson, Naomi Mobley, Lorene Bruner and Ruthelma Govan. On Madison Avenue I saw Alexander McCorkle and his crew of brick masons constructing a YMCA. Harry McDaniel was art illustrator for a large movie firm on the same avenue.

My next stop was in Durham, North Carolina, at Duke Hospital. There I saw Ernestine Brewer as a laboratory technician, Marva Robinson, a child specialist, Emma Cook, a surgeon, and Clarence Jordan, a brain specialist. Clarence told me that Thomas Eddleman, a lawyer now, had a fine mansion on Pearson Street, and Doris Horne was his private secretary.

In route home, we stopped at a down town service station, and to our surprise we saw Bobby Love, a mechanical engineer. Two hours later we arrived in Concord.

There were so many changes to be seen such as a large dressmaker and designer's shop owned by Daisy Robinson, incorporated by Mary McClure. Ernestine Reid was the owner of an exclusive interior decorating shop across the street from Daisy's.

On the next block there was a tremendous beauty parlor owned and operated by Aggie Knox, Mary Wilkerson and Ella Love.

From there I went to Logan school and found Dollie Livingston as secretary to the principal, Mr. C. C. Griffin; Betty Jo Cannon teaching typing and shorthand, Emma Hicklen as biology teacher and Margaret E. Bell as Math. teacher. Mr. Griffin told me that there were also three newly added faculty members—Patricia Marsh, 9th grade English teacher, James Wagoner, music instructor and Wilma Faggart, home economics teacher. I also found out that Alice Sims was Math. professor at Johnson C. Smith University.

After saying goodbye to all I wandered out on the campus where we saw Oscar Murray taking pictures of various clubs, classes and so forth for the senior class annual.

Later Willie McDaniel, who received his Doctor of Divinity Degree from Livingston College and now minister at Rock Hill A. M. E. Zion church, came by with the New York Symphony Orchestra. Troy Sherfield, conductor of the orchestra, told us that Leonard Witherspoon was teaching electrical engineering at New York University and James Stewart was an industrial employer, owning a large cotton mill.

My trip ended as suddenly as it began, and again I was on my way to New York.

I am exceedingly happy to say the class of '55 has succeeded in everything they set out to accomplish. As our motto says, "Look not mournfully into the past; go forth to meet the future without fear," so let it be.

-Margaret Louise Bell

Tune- "I Walk With God"

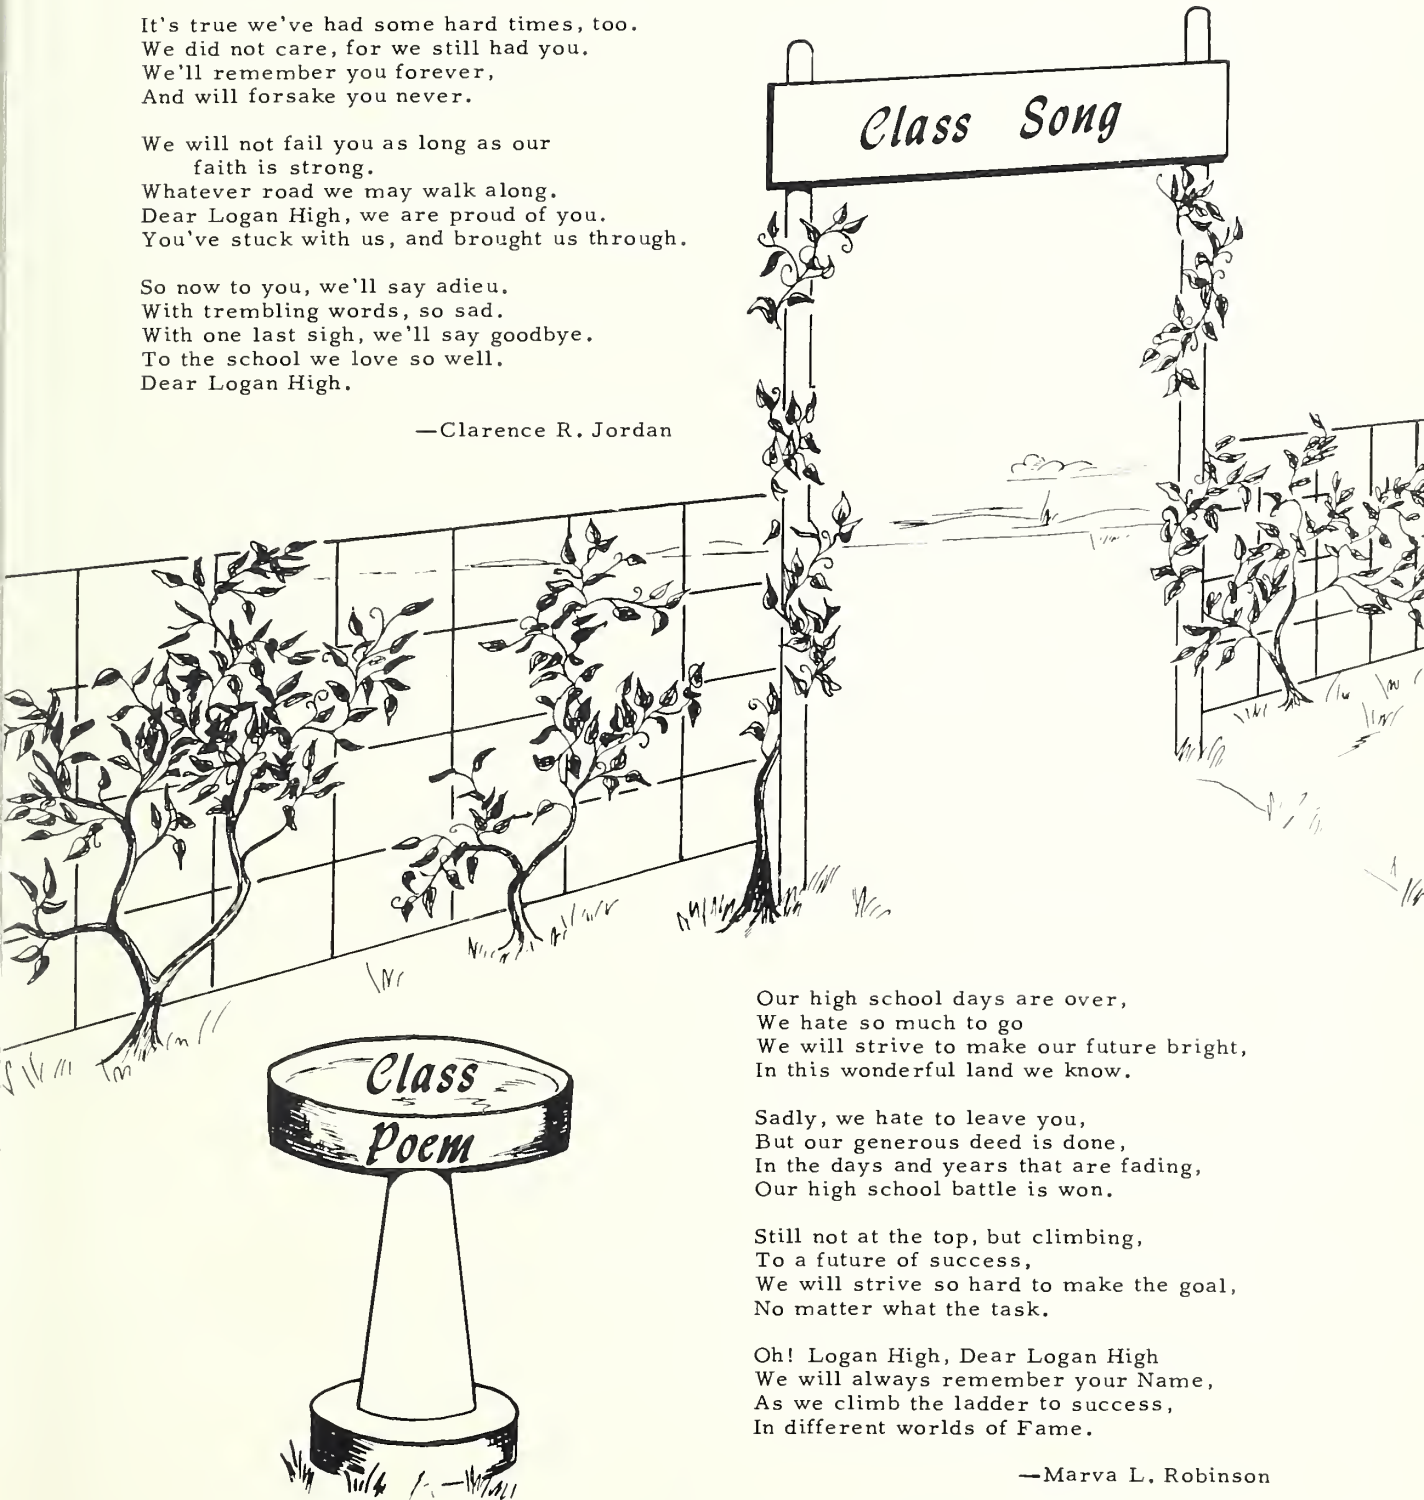

Dear Logan High, we love you so.
We hate to part, but we must go.
This our prayer, our humble plea,
May the Lord be ever with thee.

It's true we've had some hard times, too.
We did not care, for we still had you.
We'll remember you forever,
And will forsake you never.

We will not fail you as long as our faith is strong.
Whatever road we may walk along.
Dear Logan High, we are proud of you.
You've stuck with us, and brought us through.

So now to you, we'll say adieu.
With trembling words, so sad.
With one last sigh, we'll say goodbye.
To the school we love so well.
Dear Logan High.

—Clarence R. Jordan

Our high school days are over,
We hate so much to go
We will strive to make our future bright,
In this wonderful land we know.

Sadly, we hate to leave you,
But our generous deed is done,
In the days and years that are fading,
Our high school battle is won.

Still not at the top, but climbing,
To a future of success,
We will strive so hard to make the goal,
No matter what the task.

Oh! Logan High, Dear Logan High
We will always remember your Name,
As we climb the ladder to success,
In different worlds of Fame.

Last Will And Testament

We, the class of nineteen hundred and fifty-five, being about to leave this sphere, in full possession of a sound mind, memory and understanding, do make and publish this our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills by us at any time heretofore made.

First, we give and bequeath to the faculty restful nights and peaceful dreams. We promise them a rest from nineteen hundred and fifty-five petitions. No more will we be called upon to bend our haughty knee to supplicate; no more will they be pained to refuse. It has been hard to have our fondest wishes thwarted; it must have been hard for them to refuse so fair a pleader.

They have done their duty, and they have their reward. But, O. K.! how much easier it would have been for them and for us if they had said, "Yes," especially to senior privileges.

Last comes the one thing hard for us to part with. To our successors we must give our course in senior English, and let me say that English IV is a course where you learn to do things.

Now the members of the class of 1954 do hereby make the following personal bequests:

Daisy Robinson wills her ability to sew to Blondell Jackson.

Emma Russell gives her jewelry to her cousin Essie Gray.

Elizabeth Stafford leaves her ability to talk to Howard Thomas.

Mary McClure wills her ability to sew to her sister, Levada McClure.

Margaret E. Bell bequeaths her ability to get along with others to her brother, Clarence Bell.

Ernestine Reid wills her popularity and leadership to Mary Patton.

Myrtle Forney leaves her slimness to Mary Ruth Miller.

Naomi Mobley wills her sense of humor to William Clark.

Troy Sherfield gives his ability to play a Trumpet to James W. Howell.

Betty Saunders bestows her skill in driving a car on Walter Heilig.

Emma Hicklen wills her ability to act to Mary Lou Moss.

Dollie Livingston bequeaths her ability to play basketball to her sister, Fannie Livingston.

Patricia Marsh wills her comical talents to Margie McNeal.

Dorothy Johnson gives her expertness in typing to Betty Ruth Ford.

Clarence Jordan leaves his band suit for Robert Howie.

Bobby Love wills his art in maneuvering basketball to Milford Woodson.

Thomas Eddleman bestows his business experience on Thomas Misenhimer.

Mary Wilkerson leaves her typing seat to her sister Mae Selma Wilkerson.

Harry McDaniel wills his artistic skill and painting equipment to Hayden Ford.

Leonard Witherspoon wills his ability to speak to Eugene Barber.

Robert Ford leaves his height to Archie Boger.

James Davis and Joe Louis Pharr give their aptness to play baseball to John Sims.

Mattie Smith wills her friendliness to Betty Bost.

Ruthelma Govan wills her ability to get along with others to Mary Govan.

Elaine Johnson bestows her smiling face on Mary Govan.

Aggie Knox wills her quietness to Geraldine Johnson.

Alice Sims and Betty Saunders will their driving ability to Estella Davis.

Willie McDaniel leaves his store of jokes for James Ford.

Wilma Faggart wills her melodious voice to Mary Grace Faggart.

James Stewart wills his speaking ability to his sister, Daisy Stewart.

Emma Cook wills her smartness to Albert Jones.

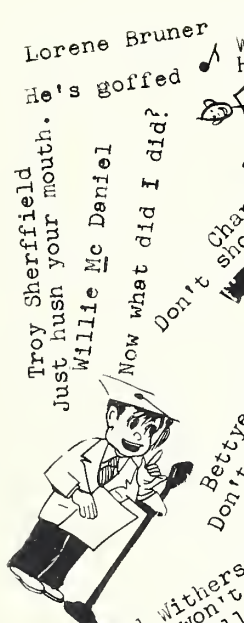

Doris E. Horne wills her position in the band for 7 years to Nellie Edmund and her basketball suit, number 7, to Gladys Wilson.

Nazaree Jackson wills her ability to type to Willie Johnson.

LOGAN NOTCHES CAGE TRIUMPHS

Logan High's Tigers and Tigerettes copped a basketball doubleheader from Price High teams of Salisbury at the Logan Gym last night.

The Tigerettes downed their adversary 38-28 in the evening's opener and the Tigers made it a complete home victory by turning back their foes, 51-41.

Doris Horne and Victoria Miller topped the Tigerettes attack with 19 and 15 points each. Doris Livingston and Erma Freeman shone defensively.

Big William Clark poured in 18 points to pace the Tigers to triumph. Robert Wallace, the squads main-spring, hit for 10 points and Charlie Smith and Albert Jones tallied eight each.

LOGAN SPLITS WITH CARVER

Logan High's Tigers uncorked a four-pronged offensive attack to carve out a corking 80-74 decision over arch-rival Carver High of Kannapolis.

William Clark led Logan's offense with 21 points drawing plenty of point support from Charlie Smith 17, Albert 'Pee Wee' Jones 14, and Robert Wallace 13.

The Tigers led all the way in the nip and tuck affair which stood at 31-30 at halftime in Logan's favor.

Anthony topped Carver's attack with 29 points and Leeper posted 21.

Logan's Tigerettes were outgunned, 53-38, in the evening's opener.

Mary Cuthbertson topped the Tigerettes attack with 21 points and Doris Horne poured in 14 markers.

LOGAN SPLITS CAGE TRIUMPHS

Logan High's junior varsity and varsity basketball teams split victories with Second Ward JV and varsity squads here Tuesday night.

The Tiger's junior squad defeated Second Ward by 47-43. The Second Ward varsity evened the count by taking a rousing 72-63 decision over the Tiger varsity.

Clarence Jordan, Melvin Sell, Jack Canady and Troy Sheffield paced the Tiger JV's. Jordan hit 12, Sheffield 11, Sell 10, and Canady 9.

Second Ward pulled something of an upset over the Tigers.

Logan started strong and gained a six point advantage in the first period of 18-12 but the warders wheeled back with a 29 point outburst in the second period to take a 16 point lead at halftime.

Charlie Smith, Albert 'Peewee' Jones and Robert Wallace sparked a 26 point comeback effort for Logan in the third period but couldn't overcome Second Ward's lead.

LOGAN CAGERS PLAY BENEFIT

Logan High girls and boys basketball squads will play Concord Negro Recreation teams at Logan Gym Friday night with all proceeds at the gate going for the benefit of the Polio Drive.

The event is made possible through efforts of Principal Griffin of Logan High and Chester Langston, Logan recreation director.

Officials of the high school and recreation department expressed the hope that a record breaking crowd will turnout for some good basketball entertainment provided by local athletes with all admissions being directed to the worthy cause of Polio benefit.
